

MAC101 : Fundamentals of Medical Assisting

This introductory course for the medical assisting certificate is designed to bring together a learning community of students to explore the role of the professional medical assistant, the health care team, the history of the profession, credentialing requirements. They will learn to obtain patient histories, vital signs, principles of infection control, etc. Prior to admission to this course the student must attend an information session within one calendar year of admission to the program.

Credits 3

Prerequisite Courses

BST103: Medical Terminology

BIO105: Survey: Human Anatomy & Physiology

Semester Offered

Fall