

BST209 : Pharmacology for Medical Coding

This course covers pharmacology basics as they relate to the duties of a medical coder. This course includes the study of drugs and their respective actions, dosage and administration, and the adverse effects associated with drugs. This course prepares students for the pharmacology content on the Certified Professional Coder Exam (CPC).

Credits 1

Prerequisite Courses

BST207: Medical Coding & Billing

Semester Offered

Fall