

MAT180 : Applied Calculus

This course is designed for students planning to apply mathematics to management and social science topics. Topics include a review of polynomial, exponential, and logarithmic functions and their application to business, an introduction to limits, continuity and the derivative, and applications of the derivative.

Credits 3

Prerequisites

A grade of C- or higher in MAT175: College Algebra or satisfactory basic skills assessment score

Semester Offered

Fall

Spring