

FSC103 : Fire Fighting Tactics and Strategy

This course is concerned with basic fire fighting tactics and strategy; methods of attack; preplanning of fire problems including necessary equipment and manpower. Some fire problems will be presented for analysis and study, consistent with accepted practices from authoritative sources. The concepts of I.C.S. and R.I.C. will be discussed throughout the class.

Credits 3

Prerequisite Courses

FSC150: Principles of Emergency Services

Semester Offered

Varies